How has the College of Health and Human Development prepared you for your future?

I feel that I have really gained a great amount of diverse knowledge that will be directly applicable to my future career in counseling.

What are some tips you have for students at CSUF?

I would tell students at CSUF to use all of the resources this university has to offer. Get involved so that you will never feel alone. When it gets tough, it helps to have others who understand what you are going through and can help you through your personal challenges.

What advice have you received from faculty that has influenced your success?

I was advised by faculty to cut back to being a part-time student when I needed to, in order to maintain my sanity. Doing this throughout my time at CSUF has helped me to manage my time better.

What are some challenges you have faced and how did you overcome them?

Time management is a constant struggle for me. With three kids, a job, and full-time school it is hard to find the time needed to get it all done!

“God doesn’t choose the qualified, he qualifies the chosen.”
~Anonymous

TITAN PRIDE

Kelli Daniels is a senior Human Services major on the Substance Abuse Track. Kelli would like to be a substance abuse counselor and eventually get her Master’s in Counseling. She is a current board member for Substance Abuse Awareness Prevention Student Association (SAAPSA). She is also a group leader for the Character and Conflict course, which has been an enjoyable experience for her. Kelli has enjoyed the friendships and connections she has made within her involvements. She has also is able to give and get help when needed. In order to graduate on time Kelli has worked closely with the Human Services academic advisors every semester to make sure she stays on track.