This Student Handbook was developed for the purpose of informing students of the policies and procedures that pertain to both the Department of Health and Human Development (HHD) at California State University, Fullerton (CSUF) and the profession of counseling. The handbook serves as a detailed guide for counseling students throughout their course of study.

All students are responsible for:

- Thoroughly reading this handbook.
- Being knowledgeable of its contents throughout their course of study.
- Periodically checking for revisions to the handbook. Modifications to the student handbook will be updated online. The handbook is available online at: http://hhd.fullerton.edu/counsel/CurrentStudents/Handbooks/StudentHandbook.pdf
- Signing the Declaration, the last page of the handbook, to verify that the handbook has been read. Students are required to turn this in at new student orientation or by the second day of class in COUN 500. This signed form will be held by the department in your student file.
- Signing the Informed Consent, the second to last page of the handbook, to verify students have informed consent about confidentiality and its limits when self-disclosing on assignments and in class. This signed form will be held by the department in your student file.
- Prior to enrolling in COUN 530 Practicum, students are required to obtain and familiarize themselves with the current edition of the Clinical Training Handbook. This handbook is revised every semester and details important dates and information pertinent to each semester. The handbook is available online at: http://hhd.fullerton.edu/counsel/CurrentStudents/Handbooks/ClinicalHandbook/default.htm
- Students are responsible for logging into their portal each week. Announcements by the department for important dates and events will be found on the portal. This is our primary mode of communication to the student body.
WELCOME

The faculty of the Department of Counseling at California State University, Fullerton would like to congratulate you on your acceptance to our Master of Science in Counseling program. As you know, students admitted to our program have gone through a competitive selection process. Our goal is to train highly competent scholars and practitioners who will exert a positive influence on our community. We look forward to working with you as you train to become a professional counselor.

Our faculty wishes to provide you with information, resources, support, and encouragement, while challenging you to discover new and exciting perspectives as you develop your counseling knowledge, skills, and experiences. In an effort to assist you with departmental, program, and curriculum requirements, we have designed this Student Handbook which contains the basic information needed to function in our Department. It is planned as an easily accessible guide and source of information.

Advising is an important component of the Department of Counseling. There is no substitute for individual, personal contact and relationship with an advisor or other Department faculty. The role of the faculty advisor is to provide information to the student about the educational opportunities within the Department, to discuss the implications of options available, to help in decision-making, and generally, on the basis of experience, to help the student develop and achieve their educational goals. You will be meeting with the New Student Advisor during the first semester and will continue to receive advisement throughout the program. Please refrain from asking Department Office staff any academically-related concerns, and instead, contact your advisor.

Your training in our program will almost inevitably cause you to look closely at yourself, your family, your values, and your commitment to the profession of counseling. You will be asked to participate in exercises intended to train you in counseling processes that effect client change. Students often find themselves experiencing the unspoken expectation that, because personal issues are raised in the classroom, instructors will or ought to assist in working through or resolving them. It is important to convey to you that the classes in which you will enroll are academic training classes, not counseling, and that your instructors and advisors, while sensitive to issues that may emerge, should not be expected to act in the capacity of counselors or therapists with you, either in or out of the classroom. Your acceptance of admission into our program requires that you assume responsibility for taking care of personal issues in an appropriate forum outside the Department of Counseling. We strongly recommend that students who find themselves experiencing levels of discomfort or distress while undergoing training seek either individual, couple, or group counseling with professionals who have no connection with our Department. Likewise, participation in individual, couple, or group counseling outside of the Department is highly recommended as an avenue of personal and professional development and growth. We hope that each student will engage in therapy prior to graduation to understand the experience of clients.

We all look forward to playing an integral role in your development as a professional counselor, and hope you will enjoy your learning experience with us!

Mission Statement

The faculty in the Department of Counseling are committed to training competent professionals who are prepared to serve as counselors in community agencies and are eligible to seek licensure as Licensed Marriage and Family Therapists and Licensed Professional Clinical Counselors in California. We work with students from diverse cultural and economic backgrounds who are committed to improving the quality of life for children and adults in the community. We utilize an integrated approach in conceptualization, prevention, assessment, treatment, and research. Practice-based student learning is constructed through partnerships with nonprofit agencies in diverse communities. Students are expected to engage in reflective practice, to consistently apply ethical standards, to practice cultural sensitivity, and to take responsibility for social change. We collaborate with students as they develop cultural competence and professional identities that incorporate a dedication to service and life-long learning. We strive to create an education that is guided by relevant community needs and research on learning.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students understand their professional identity as a counselor.
- Articulate the foundations of the counseling profession, its history, and its philosophical underpinnings.
- Develop an identity as a mental health community counselor and understand the licenses and the scopes of practice in the state of California for the LPCC and LMFT.
- Be able to identify the ethical and legal guidelines of the profession as an integral part of constructing a professional identity.
- Compare and contrast the roles of the various counseling professional organizations and licenses (LMFT and LPCC).
- Demonstrate participation in professional development activities (e.g. join a professional organization; attend a conference or workshop; volunteer at a conference or workshop).

Students are aware of the impact of diversity on the counseling process and are sensitive to differences.
- Identify major cultural constructs and how they intersect with the mental health of clients (e.g. culture, race, ethnicity, social class, gender, sexual or affectional orientation, transgender, religion, oppression, social justice, advocacy, privilege, identity development, and white guilt).
- Articulate pluralistic trends among groups locally, nationally, and internationally and their potential impact on community mental health.
- Explore and articulate the cultural sources of existing personal value system and acknowledge that these cultural values create biases that may affect clients who are culturally different from the counselor.
- Apply culturally sensitive treatments to clients in community mental health.
- Identify stereotypes and how they derive from systematic oppression and the traditional values and norms of various cultural groups.
- Articulate counselors’ roles in developing cultural awareness, promoting cultural social justice advocacy, facilitating conflict resolution, and other culturally supported behaviors that promote optimal wellness and growth of the human spirit, mind, or body.

Students demonstrate effective counseling skills with clients.
- Demonstrate effective counseling skills with individuals (adults and children), couples, families, and/or groups.
- Evaluate client’s progress toward treatment goals during practicum experiences.
- Display an awareness of, and an appreciation for, the intersection of social and cultural influences on human behavior and the impact of individual differences on the counseling process.
- Recognize counter-transference that may be interfering with the client’s process, minimize counter-transference through personal work, and understand how counter-transference can be used in therapy.
• Identify ethical and legal issues, understand professional ethical codes of conduct, and appropriately apply an ethical decision-making model to clinical cases (hypothetical vignettes and/or actual).

Students can conceptualization cases and write effective treatment plans for clients.
• Utilize knowledge of major counseling theories in the context of individual (adult and child), couple, family, and group counseling, to formulate case conceptualizations and treatment plans.
• Appropriately apply the diagnostic categories of the DSM 5.
• Recognize the impact of issues and formulate treatment plans for clients with severe mental illness and/or co-occurring disorders.

Students are able to conduct research and demonstrate the ability to think critically and problem solve.
• Collect and integrate theoretical knowledge, the relevance of evidence-based practice, clinical information, and client perspectives in order to form clinical hypotheses of clients and their issues.
• Critically analyze biases in theories, assessment and diagnoses.
• Utilize a formal system of inquiry that integrates the work of researchers and counselors, and apply it in a “practicum on research.”
• Critically analyze research methodology and can critique the professional literature.
• Demonstrate knowledge regarding a specific clinical issue relevant to community counseling in Southern California.

Students are able to write papers well using APA style, proper grammar, and organization.
• Demonstrate writing that includes correct grammar, punctuation, and sentence structure.
• Demonstrate writing that uses non-biased language regarding labeling and dimensions of diversity (e.g., gender, ethnicity, sexual orientation, race, age, disability).
• Demonstrate writing that is structurally and mechanically correct according to APA style.
• Demonstrate original writing that correctly references sources and is not plagiarized.
• Demonstrate awareness of the intended audience and purpose for which the writing is done.
• Demonstrate writing that meets the stated objectives in a concise, organized, and logical manner.
• Demonstrate writing that is professional, ethical, and respectful with regard to clients.

About the Department

The Office of the Department of Counseling is located on the main CSUF campus in Education Classroom (EC) 405. The Department Suite is comprised of a main office for administrative support staff.

The Department of Counseling offers a Masters in Science in Counseling, emphasizing clinical mental health counseling, which leads to eligibility for state licensure as a Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist (LMFT) and Licensed Professional Clinical Counselor (LPCC).

LMFT Licensure:
Our program is approved by the California State Board of Behavioral Sciences (BBS) to meet the educational requirements for Licensed Marriage and Family Therapists (LMFT). By completing this degree, you have met the curricular requirements for your degree.
LPCC Licensure:
Our program is approved by the California State Board of Behavioral Sciences (BBS) to meet the educational requirements for Licensed Professional Clinical Counselors (LPCC). By completing this degree, you have met the curricular requirements for your degree.

We prepare students to work in schools, non-profit agencies, government services, hospitals, businesses, and private practice. Our program maintains strong links to community non-profit agencies throughout Orange County and the surrounding area. Our students also can use the degree as preparation for pursuing a Ph.D. or Psy.D. in counselor education, or in counseling or clinical psychology.

The Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP), a specialized accrediting body recognized by the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA), has granted accreditation until March 31, 2023, to the following program in the Department of Counseling at California State University, Fullerton: Clinical Mental Health Counseling (M.S.). For more information on CACREP, please visit their web site, www.cacrep.org.

The University is also accredited by Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC).

Emphasis on Counselor Training
Our emphasis is on the training of clinicians who can serve the needs of individuals, couples, families, and groups in their community. We train students to provide counseling to adults, children, adolescents, couples, and families. Our students learn to diagnose and design treatment plans, provide short-term and long-term counseling, conduct group therapy, work with addictions, provide crisis intervention, provide career counseling, and maintain a professional identity as counselors and marriage and family therapists in the community.

Our Philosophy
Our orientation is relational and systemic. We believe individuals, families, and communities have their own inner wisdom, desire to grow, and capacity for solving life’s challenges. We also believe that counselors can best help people by understanding the relationship of emotional distress to family dynamics and to the social and cultural contexts that shape our lives. The program strongly emphasizes a multicultural perspective. We are a culturally diverse faculty that specializes in working with students from different backgrounds. We prepare culturally competent counselors who will be sensitive to the diverse cultural heritages, lifestyles and special needs of individuals and families living in our community.

Please note: Admission into programs leading to licensure and credentialing does not guarantee that students will obtain a license or credential. Licensure and credentialing requirements are set by agencies that are not controlled by or affiliated with the CSU and requirements can change at any time. For example, licensure or credentialing requirements can include evidence of the right to work in the United States (e.g., social security number or taxpayer identification number) or successfully passing a criminal background check. Students are responsible for determining whether they can meet licensure or credentialing requirements. The CSU will not refund tuition, fees, or any associated costs, to students who determine subsequent to admission that they cannot meet licensure or credentialing requirements. Information concerning licensure and credentialing requirements are available from Ginamarie Scherzi, EC-429, (657) 278-3042.
DEPARTMENT FACULTY AND STAFF

The faculty embody a broad range of cultural identities and worldviews. We represent a wide range of theoretical orientations in counseling, yet are united in our commitment to quality training, cultural diversity, and social relevance. Our faculty take a personal interest in student learning and are committed to staying on the “cutting edge” of counseling theory and practice. We emphasize the practical, “real world” skills students need to secure jobs after graduation and to feel prepared to serve as community leaders. Most of our faculty are also licensed clinicians with years of experience. Several have international reputations based on their scholarly work.

Leah Brew, Ph.D., Professor & Department Chair
Leah’s specialties are in the areas of accreditation, the mind-body connection, stress-reduction, supervision, licensure for professional counselors in California, ethics, and issues of diversity, including social justice and advocacy. In addition, she offers training programs in the community on supervision, diversity training, and on dealing with conflict. In addition, she sees clients in the community and is specializing in trauma work and anxiety using EMDR.
Dr. Brew can be contacted in EC 422, office phone (657) 278-2708, e-mail: lbrew@fullerton.edu

Joseph M. Cervantes, Ph.D., Professor
Jose is a Diplomate in Clinical Psychology and a licensed psychologist. He is a child, adolescent, and family therapist who has taught and supervised clinical work in a variety of universities, hospitals, and medical schools. His research interests include developing effective and therapeutic models with culturally diverse populations, understanding the role of spirituality in clinical practice, and community consultation.
Dr. Cervantes can be contacted in EC 428, office phone (657) 278-3669, e-mail: jcervantes@fullerton.edu

Sapna Batra Chopra, Ph.D., Lecturer
Sapna’s interests include issues related to cultural diversity, multicultural counseling, parenting, mindfulness, and counseling college students. Sapna is the advisor for the Graduate Counseling Student Association.
Dr. Chopra can be contacted in EC 446, office phone (657) 278-5622, e-mail: sapnachopra@fullerton.edu

Matt Englar-Carlson, Ph.D., Professor & Post-Practicum Advisor
Matt’s interests include the psychology of men and masculinity, multicultural issues and qualitative research. His research and scholarship examines masculinity and its influence on counseling and the well-being of men and boys.
Dr. Englar-Carlson can be contacted in EC 426, office phone (657) 278-5062, e-mail: mattec@fullerton.edu

Jeffrey A. Kottler, Ph.D., Professor Emeritus & New Student Advisor
Jeffrey is a specialist in group work, counseling theory, and working with diverse and multicultural populations. He is the author of 75 books in counseling, psychology, and education, including some of the best-selling texts in the field. He has taught counseling around the world, including Singapore, Hong Kong, Australia, Iceland, Peru, and Nepal. He has worked as a counselor and educator in community agencies, hospitals, universities, schools, and private practice.
Dr. Kottler can be contacted in EC 430, office phone (657) 278-7537, e-mail: jkottler@fullerton.edu
Olga L. Mejía, Ph.D., Associate Professor
Olga’s interests include immigration and psychology, acculturation, attachment, women’s issues, and educational achievement of Latinos. She has worked in community and college mental health settings, and her clinical experience includes individual, group, and family therapy, in both English and Spanish.
Dr. Mejia can be contacted in EC 444, office phone (657)278-7263, e-mail: omejia@fullerton.edu

Mary M. Read, Ph.D., Lecturer & Director of Clinical Training
Mary’s varied interests center on a theme of empowerment, including feminist theory, diversity issues, gerontology, and supervision. Her research interests include women’s health issues, identity and diversity, aging with dignity, and social justice concerns. Mary is the advisor for the Alumni Association.
Dr. Read can be contacted in EC 484, office phone (657) 278-2167, e-mail: mread@fullerton.edu

Ginamari Scherzi, M.S., Lecturer, Admissions Coordinator & Prospective Graduate Student Advisor
Ginamari’s interests include the benefits of a collaborative treatment approach to address issues of substance abuse, mental illness and homelessness, social justice issues and trauma. She has worked in community mental health settings and Orange County Collaborative Courts. Her clinical experience includes individual, group and family therapy.
Ms. Scherzi can be contacted in EC 479-B, office phone (657) 278-3042, email gscherzi@fullerton.edu.

David S. Shepard, Ph.D., Professor, Chair of Admissions Committee & Graduate Advisor
David’s interests include the relationship of counseling theory to clinical practice, supervision, couples counseling, and men’s issues. As a clinician in private practice, he works with individual adults and couples in the areas of relationship issues, making challenging life-decisions, and personal growth.
Dr. Shepard can be contacted in EC 432, office phone (657) 278-3327, e-mail: dshepard@fullerton.edu

Rebekah Smart, Ph.D., Professor
Rebekah’s interests are in women's issues, cultural issues, and feminist theory, as well eating disorders. A broader focus, however, is the manner in which gender and culture issues intersect. This includes exploring how ideas about "masculinity" and "femininity" affect the well-being of both men and women across cultures and sexual orientations.
Dr. Smart can be contacted in EC 424, office phone (657) 278-7341, email: rsmart@fullerton.edu

Regular Adjunct Faculty:
Gerald Corey, Cheryl Crippen, Alison Englar-Carlson, Jacqueline Gerali, Michelle Gottlieb, David Hart, Julie Lee, Nancy Nguyen, Thuy Nguyen and Maryam Sayyedi.

Department Chair
The Department Chair is responsible for administering the Counseling Program. Specifically, the Chair:
1. Participates in the recruitment, employment, and orientation of new faculty; including demonstrating a commitment to the affirmative action goals of the university.
2. Encourages and facilitates professional development through activities such as suggesting funding sources, discussing research ideas, and urging attendance at professional meetings and workshops.
3. Provides appropriate opportunities for faculty to participate in department affairs.
4. Evaluates faculty on a regular and continuing basis in the areas of teaching, research, and service with appropriate recommendations for improvement, particularly for untenured faculty.
5. Creates a forum through which faculty can express ideas freely, thus promoting productive discussions among the departmental faculty members.
6. Makes informed documented recommendations concerning faculty retention, promotion, tenure, and annual salary increments, the outcomes of which will be intended to serve the best interest of the department as a whole.
7. Encourages university and community service activities appropriate for faculty participation.
8. Represents the department both within the university’s administrative and governance structures and externally with professional and community groups.
9. Disseminates information of interest to students.
10. Responds to student grievances and requests.
11. Coordinates the preparation of the department budget.
12. Administers the department budget. Adheres to the budget management procedures established by the Business Office.
13. Creates and builds the schedule each semester.
14. Allocates funds in a manner consistent with the goals of the department.
15. Mentors faculty with respect to their research, teaching, service, personal and professional development.
16. Helps create and foster a department culture that is respectful of individual and cultural differences, as well as develops and maintains a working environment that is respectful, caring, ethical, and supportive.

Admissions Committee Chair
The Chair of the Admissions Committee is the coordinator for the Counseling Program. The Chair:
1. Coordinates the entire admissions process, including marketing and recruitment.
2. Develops, with consultation from all faculty members, the selection criteria.
3. Reviews all applications.
4. Chairs the admissions committee's work in reviewing applications.
5. Conducts interviews and making final decisions.
6. Supervises the Prospective Student Advisor (whose role is to meet with interested candidates and assemble files).
7. Responds to phone calls and emails from interested students and conducts phone interviews with international applicants.
8. Advises denied students on how to strengthen their applications if they wish to re-apply and deals with appeals from denied students.
9. Coordinates Department admissions issues with the University Office of Admissions and Records.

Clinical Training Director
The Clinical Training Director oversees the field-training component of the counseling program. The Clinical Training Director is responsible for anticipating the needs and concerns of students relative to training, reporting on training issues and concerns at department meetings, meeting regularly with the department chair and college dean as appropriate, and representing California State University, Fullerton and the counseling program at the regional Consortium meetings which consists of community agency clinical directors and university training directors.

The Clinical Training Director also serves as an agency liaison, which includes the following responsibilities:
1. Makes initial contact with potential agencies and conduct site visits to ascertain the appropriateness of the particular site for practicum opportunities.
2. Evaluates the appropriateness of current agencies after feedback from students and supervising faculty, and review of student evaluations of agencies.
3. Works with existing agencies to meet the requirements as set forth by the Department of
a. Counseling and the Board of Behavioral Sciences (BBS).
4. Engages with practica placements by informing them of CSUF’s policies and procedures, responding to agency and student needs when issues are not resolved by practicum instructors, and providing consultation to agencies to enhance their training programs.
5. Facilitates the Practicum Orientation each semester for students to assist them in preparation for practicum.
6. Facilitates the Internship Preparation Workshop for students during their last semester in the program to prepare them for the internship process.
7. Ensures that students and agencies are in compliance with BBS rules, regulations, legal and ethical guidelines as well as monitoring and ensuring CACREP compliance.
8. Reviews all student evaluations of agencies, and agency evaluations of students, and makes recommendations as appropriate.
9. Conducts exit interviews and evaluations with each graduating student.
10. Develops new practica field placements.

STUDENT EXPECTATIONS

Ethical Student Behavior

Students are required to adhere to the policies of the ethical codes governing the counseling profession, specifically the codes of The American Counseling Association (ACA), The California Association of Marriage and Family Therapists (CAMFT) and the California Board of Behavioral Science's Laws and Regulations (BBS). Students should take note that the ACA Code of Ethics states that "Counselors are aware of – and avoid imposing— their own values, attitudes, beliefs, and behaviors." This ethical standard means that students have an obligation to facilitate the strengthening of relationships and psychological well-being of all clients, regardless of sexual/affectional orientation or gender identity, cultural values, or spiritual/religious values. When student values conflict with those of their clients, students are expected to work with faculty members and agency supervisors on learning how to avoid imposing those values on their clients while helping them achieve their goals. Ethical behavior also includes adhering to department and university policies; maintaining academic and personal integrity; and demonstrating ethical behavior, honesty, and caring towards others.

Professional Ethical Standards

Any training relationship in which students take client/counselor roles is considered a client/counselor relationship and, therefore, subject to all ethical and legal regulations governing such relationships. Students are required to become familiar with the Ethical Standards of the American Counseling Association (ACA), the California Association of Marriage and Family Therapists (CAMFT), and the California State Board of Behavioral Sciences (BBS) during their first semester of enrollment in the counseling program. Students are required to obtain a copy of the ACA Ethical Standards during their first semester in the program. Violation of these professional ethics can result in litigation, suspension, or expulsion from the Department of Counseling. These important standards are available online at: http://www.counseling.org/knowledge-center/ethics/code-of-ethics-resources

Grade Appeals

The university recognizes the long-standing prerogatives of faculty to set standards of performance and to apply them to individual students. The university will seek to correct injustices to students but at the same time believes that the instructor’s judgment at the time the original grade is assigned is better than a later reconsideration of an individual case. Equity to all students is of fundamental concern. The following policies apply to changes of grades except for changes of Incomplete Authorized and Unauthorized Incomplete symbols.

1. In general, all course grades are final when filed by the instructor in the end-of-term course grade report. Each student is notified on their portal of the grades earned during the term, and these grades become a part of the official record.
2. A change of grade may occur only in cases of clerical error, administrative error, or where the instructor reevaluates the original course assignments of a student and discovers an error in the original evaluation. A clerical error is an error made by the instructor or an assistant in calculating or recording the grade. A change of grade shall not occur as a consequence of the acceptance of additional work or reexamination beyond the specified course requirements.

3. A request for a change of grade shall be initiated by the student affected and shall be directed to the instructor within 60 calendar days of the first day of classes of the regular semester following the award of the original grade. If the instructor determines that there is a valid basis for the change, a Change of Grade form shall be used to notify the Office of Admissions and Records. These forms are available in department offices and are not to be handled by students. If the instructor determines that there is not a valid basis for the change and denies the student’s request, the instructor’s decision is final. The student may file a petition with the Academic Appeals Board on the basis of unfair or prejudicial treatment by the instructor. See “Academic Appeals” in the “Student Affairs” section of the University catalog.

4. The Change of Grade form completed and signed by the instructor, noting the basis for the change, shall not be accepted by the registrar unless approved separately by the department chair and college dean.

5. If a request for change of grade is initiated after 60 calendar days into the following semester, it will be approved only in extraordinary circumstances. An explanation of such circumstances must accompany the request and must be approved separately by the instructor, department chair, and the dean before acceptance by the registrar.

The policy on Academic Appeals is listed here and can be found in the University catalog.

Academic Appeals

Students have the right of due process if they feel they have been treated unfairly or with prejudice. They may appeal a grade dispute or charge of academic dishonesty to the coordinator of academic appeals, who will guide them through the procedure to be followed. The student must go through several steps seeking to resolve the issue before it can be considered by the Academic Appeals Board, which is comprised of three faculty members and two students. Contact the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs for further information.

STUDENT RETENTION POLICY

As part of our accreditation obligations and in keeping with the ACA code of ethics, faculty will participate in an ongoing assessment of student development from admissions to graduation. Therefore, student issues will be discussed in faculty meetings as needed. For example, a faculty member may choose to discuss a student because of concerns with academic dishonesty, professional behavior, performance in a particular class, or any other concerns. In addition, formal evaluations will be held with the student at the benchmarks listed below.
Classification
All students begin the program as conditionally classified students. During the first semester of graduate coursework students meet with the New Student Advisor to have their study plans written. After students have completed all pre-requisites and the first 9 units in the program, then the study plan will be approved by the Office of Graduate Studies and students are considered classified.

Advancement to Practicum
Each student undergoes a comprehensive evaluation in the semester prior to his or her first Practicum (Counseling 530). This evaluation determines advancement to practicum.

Advancement to practicum requires an average 3.0 GPA for graduate courses; a grade of (B) or better in Ethics (Counseling 526); and successfully passing the faculty’s ongoing assessment of the student’s aptitude and suitability for the counseling profession, progress in skill development, interpersonal and cultural sensitivity, readiness to see clients, and ethical and professional conduct. A student may be (a) advanced to practicum; (b) required to postpone practicum and complete remedial steps designated by the faculty; or (c) disqualified from the program.

Advancement to Final Project is required in the fall or spring semester prior to taking COUN 597 Final Project. During this advisement, students will be reminded to complete a Grad Check, will have their Advisement Log reviewed to ensure they will be ready to take Final Project the following fall or spring, and will complete a selection form on what section of Final Project they would prefer to enroll.

Probation
A student will be placed on academic probation if his or her graduate grade-point average falls below 3.0. A student may also be placed on probation for reasons other than grade-point average; this is known as administrative-academic probation. See the “Graduate Regulations” section of the catalog for details on both forms of probation.

Disqualification
A student will be disqualified from the program at any time if (a) the student receives more than two grades below (B-) (2.7) or (b) the faculty has determined that a student has failed to demonstrate a level of professional competence, or personal or professional fitness commensurate with the standards of the counseling discipline, and that this failure requires removal from the program, rather than placement on administrative-academic probation. See the “Graduate Regulations” section of the University Catalog for additional details on disqualification. Students must receive an evaluation of Credit in COUN 530/584/590/591. Students must receive a (B) or better in COUN 526. Failure to earn the minimum grades for these classes may involve remediation or disqualification from the program. Any decision involving remediation or disqualification follows the procedure specified below:
Conference with the Department Remediation Committee
Students whose behavior at any given time suggests a lack of professional competence, or personal or professional fitness for the profession of counseling, may be asked to meet with the Department Remediation Committee, which consists of three faculty members. The Remediation Committee will subsequently recommend to the faculty either a remediation plan for the student or disqualification. The full faculty may accept or modify the remediation plan. If the Remediation Committee recommends disqualification, the faculty may instruct the Committee to notify The Office of Graduate Studies that the Department has chosen to disqualify the student. Alternately, the faculty may request the Committee propose a remedy rather than disqualification. If the latter, the Remediation Committee will develop a remediation plan and submit it to the faculty for its acceptance or modification.

Remediation Plans and Disqualification
A Remediation Plan usually consists of (a) one or more benchmarks the student must meet, that demonstrate the student has remedied the problematic behavior; (b) a timeline for meeting the benchmarks; (c) the support and guidance of the Remediation Committee for the student throughout the specified period for completing the benchmark(s); (d), if appropriate, the recommendation that the student seek psychotherapy, medical intervention, a medical leave of absence, or remediation in academic and/or clinical skills training, as needed; (e) if appropriate, the recommendation that the student postpone or withdraw from practicum; (f) if appropriate, the recommendation that the student voluntarily drops out of the program. The philosophy of the Counseling Department is that remediation requires consequences proportionate to the problematic behavior(s), achievable benchmarks, and the continued support and guidance of the Remediation Committee or other faculty members.

The Counseling Department may recommend that the student be placed on administrative-academic probation by The Office of Graduate Studies. When this decision is made, the Department’s Graduate Program Advisor collaborates with Graduate Studies to develop an appropriate plan, based on the philosophy of the Department regarding remediation, the recommendations of the Remediation Committee, the recommendations of Graduate Studies, and consistency with university policies and guidelines. In such cases, the student will receive a formal notification from Graduate Studies specifying the benchmarks and timeline for their completion. A student who meets the benchmarks within the timeline will be removed from probationary status, in accordance with Graduate Studies policies. Students who fail to meet the benchmarks, or fail to do so within the specified timeline, will be disqualified from the University.

If the Remediation Committee recommends immediate disqualification rather than remediation and administrative-academic probation, and if the faculty accepts the recommendation, the Office of Graduate Studies will be notified. The Office of Graduate Studies may formally disqualify the student, as guided by University policies on disqualification. Graduate Studies may choose instead to refer the matter back to the Remediation Committee, with the recommendation that a remediation plan is developed. If Graduate Studies formally disqualifies a student, the student is entitled to an appeals process, as outlined in the CSUF Student Handbook UP300.030.

Endorsement Policy
At various times students require an endorsement (verbal or written recommendation) from their program in order to gain employment or credentials. A graduate will be endorsed by counseling faculty only for a position or credential for which the graduate has been prepared.

Minority Recruitment Policy
California State University, Fullerton College of Health and Human Development does not discriminate on the basis of disability, age, gender, racial or ethnic origin, religion, sexual orientation, gender identification, or social class in the recruitment and admission of students, the recruitment and employment of faculty and staff, or the operation of any of its programs and activities, as specified by federal laws and regulations.

Disability Accommodation Policy

In compliance with and in the spirit of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), it is the student’s responsibility to request any needed accommodations from the instructor within the first week of class. Please also make contact with the campus Disability Support Services office (657)278-3117 immediately, so we may all work together in a coordinated fashion.

Academic Dishonesty

Academic dishonesty and plagiarism are not tolerated in our program. Students should understand that (a) faculty will routinely be using Turnitin.com; (b) all acts of plagiarism/cheating will be reported to the Office of Student Conduct and the university will have its own record of the student's conduct; and (c) cheating/plagiarism will likely result in an F on the assignment or in the course, which will effectively end the student's graduate academic career.

University policy recommends that students will receive an oral reprimand in cases where there is reasonable doubt that the student knew his/her action constituted academic dishonesty; an F on the particular paper, project or examination where the act of dishonesty was unpremeditated, or where there were significant mitigating circumstances; and an F in the course where the dishonesty was premeditated or planned. Students should consult the CSUF Catalog for university regulations regarding the challenging of an instructor’s response to academic dishonesty.

You, as a student, are responsible for knowing the definition of plagiarism according to above university guidelines and according to the most recent version of the APA manual. Below are some examples, although this is not a comprehensive list:

1. Copying a sentence (or more) or a portion of a sentence without using quotes.
2. Neglecting to provide an in-text citation with corresponding page/paragraph number for quotes and a reference page for the paper.
3. Using a reference without providing an in-text citation and referencing at the end of your paper, even if you use your own words. This would include websites, books, book chapters, magazine or newspaper articles, TV, movies, YouTube, blogs, well-known quotes, or any other source not from created by you.
4. Pulling exact language from a paper you previously submitted for another assignment in any class (i.e., plagiarizing yourself). You must do original work for each and every paper.
5. Including research/analysis/viewpoints/insights of others to complete a paper where the goal of the paper is to determine your ability to analyze the material.

For example, on a movie review analysis, do not look on-line for reviews of the movie to help you analyze the movie.

Finally, whether or not your instructor asks you to submit papers on Turnitin.com, the instructor is likely to use this resource to alleviate plagiarism in our department. Ignorance is not an excuse.
Program Prerequisite Curricular Experiences

The Department of Counseling requires students to complete four pre-requisites. At least two of the four must be taken prior to beginning the program: remaining prerequisites must be completed during the student’s first semester. Courses meeting the prerequisite requirements are offered at CSUF in several undergraduate departments. Equivalent courses offered at other universities and community colleges may also meet the requirements.

1. Counseling Theory, Personality Theory, or History of Psychology
   COUN/HUSR 380, PSYC 331, 431 or 481, or equivalent
2. Research Methods or Statistics
   HUSR 315; PSYC 201 or 202; SOCI 302 or 303; CAS 301, or equivalent
3. Abnormal Psychology or Psychopathology
   PSYC 341 or equivalent
4. Human Development or Developmental Psychology
   CAS 312, 315 or 325Aand 325B; PSYC 361; or equivalent

Practicum Defined
Practicum is field experience taken for academic credit that provides students with the opportunity to learn counseling skills under supervision. This experience may be with individuals, children, adults, couples, and families and the focus will be on relationship problems/issues specifically.

Minimum Practicum Experience Defined
Students must devote approximately 15-20 hours per week for three (3) consecutive semesters of supervised practicum. Please refer to The California Board of Behavioral Sciences regulations for minimum/maximum experience requirements.

The Department of Counseling requires that students have a total of 700 Practicum hours during their practicum year with a minimum of 280 direct client contact hours during the course of 530, 584, and 590. If students are unable to complete their hours in the year of practicum courses, they will register for COUN 591 Advanced Practicum II to complete those hours.

Direct client contact hours are gained through providing counseling services to clients in the following categories: individual children and/or adults, couples, families, and groups. Groups should be facilitated by two student trainees as co-leaders whenever possible.

Students will gather all 280 hours of their direct client contact hours during the semesters in which they are enrolled in practicum courses. In Beginning Practicum 530, hours may be counted from the day classes begin. Once begun, hours may be counted throughout the practicum year, provided enrollment in practicum courses is continuous. Note: No more than 40 DCC hours and 60 non-DCC hours may be counted during Beginning Practicum 530.

Students are responsible to keep their practicum instructors informed regarding the number of hours being accumulated throughout the year.

During the spring or fall semester prior to taking COUN 530, students are responsible for:
1. Scheduling a meeting with the Graduate Advisor for an Advancement to Practicum interview.
2. Obtaining the most recent Clinical Training Handbook which clearly stipulates the practicum requirements and expectations. These requirements are far more rigorous than what the BBS requires, and students are responsible for knowing the requirements of each.
3. Attending the Practicum Orientation meeting: Students are responsible for checking their portal each week, and the practicum orientation dates will be part of these announcements. Students are required to attend the fall or spring semester before they intend to begin practicum (e.g., attend in Fall before starting practicum in Spring).

The Advancement to Practicum Interview is a meeting initiated by the student to discuss with the Graduate Advisor whether or not the student is prepared for practicum academically, psychologically (emotionally/intellectually), and physically (adequate physical health). The student will be updating the advisement log with the advisor and making sure that all prerequisites have been met. Expectations about practicum will be discussed as well as ideas for the student's final research project (COUN 521 & 597). Students are advised to schedule this meeting in the first month of the (Fall or Spring) semester prior to taking practicum since the faculty meeting to discuss student readiness for advancement to practicum is held mid-semester. After the student meets with the advisor, the student’s file will be reviewed and the faculty will discuss the readiness of each student seeking to begin practicum. If any concerns exist, the advisor will contact the student to discuss any remediation which will be determined by the faculty members based upon individual circumstances. However, if none of the faculty members have concerns, the student will receive a formal letter toward the end of the semester informing her/him of their new “advanced to practicum” status. Students who advance to practicum and are enrolled in practicum are considered by the BBS to be "trainees" and will then be responsible for maintaining records toward meeting practicum requirements as well as licensure requirements. Once students reach practicum status, they are eligible to begin counting training hours toward the 3,000 licensure hours for the LMFT provided they are enrolled in a practicum class. Note that LPCCs cannot count any licensure hours until after graduation, although they must also complete a practicum year. Finally, practicum status can be revoked if the student goes on academic or administrative probation.

Practicing without a License
No student may advertise or perform marriage and family therapy or psychological counseling in a private practice without the proper State license. In California, the licenses for professional counselors are the Marriage and Family Therapy (LMFT) License and the Licensed Professional Clinical Counselor (LPCC). Students may, however, be gainfully employed by a government agency, school, or non-profit charitable organization and provide counseling under the supervision of a licensee of the organization (not CSUF). Any students found in violation of this law (Section 17800.2, California Business and Profession Code) will be immediately withdrawn from the Counseling Department, and their names forwarded to the appropriate State licensing agency.

Class Attendance
Regular attendance at class is expected. Due to the experiential nature of counseling courses, attendance is absolutely critical to optimal learning. Much of the material presented is difficult to grasp only from textbooks, and necessitates learning while experiencing and practicing. Students are advised that faculty may establish attendance requirements in their courses, and are permitted to link student absences to their evaluation of students’ performance in the course.

STUDENT ADVISING
Each student will have various advisors throughout the program. The role of the faculty advisor is to provide information to the student about the educational opportunities within the Department, to address concerns of the student and to help the student achieve his or her educational goals. The advisor also focuses on the student as a whole person and on all issues that impinge upon the student’s academic success. Each faculty advisor has a unique style of advising and educating. The advisor is the person to see if students feel confused about University policies, registration procedures, course selection, licensure and career options, or need to talk confidentially with someone about educational situations. Therefore, students should address all personal and Departmental concerns to their assigned advisor. Developing a good faculty advisor-student relationship involves meeting periodically, discussing the student’s evolving interests, reviewing the student’s academic and experiential background, and exploring the student’s short-term and long-term goals. It is the student’s responsibility to contact the appropriate advisor to schedule an appointment.

Required Advisement
Students are required to meet during their first semester with the New Student Advisor for completion of their study plan, leading to University designation as a classified student.

Students are required to meet with the Graduate Advisor regarding Advancement to Practicum standing prior to taking the first practicum class (COUN 530). Periodically, the study plan should be reviewed and updated to ensure that course sequencing and graduation requirements are being met. Maintaining this study plan form will make further application and petition procedures less time-consuming.

Students are required to meet with the Post-Practicum Advisor for approval to enroll in COUN 597 (Final Project). Students are required to attend the Exit Interview the semester they plan on graduating to understand procedures for graduation and licensure.
COMMUNICATION PROCEDURES

Departmental Announcements
Announcements will be placed on the student portal, so students are responsible for checking the portal weekly. The portal is updated regularly and is the primary vehicle to inform students of important information, upcoming meetings and events. Students are also responsible for making sure the University has their correct personal information. If the student’s name, phone number, e-mail address or regular mailing address changes, students must inform the University separately as soon as possible.

Faculty Office Hours and Mailboxes
Office hours, phone numbers, and e-mail addresses of each full-time faculty member are posted outside their office doors. Office hours often change by semester as class schedules change. Therefore, students must be sure to check at the beginning of each semester for new hours. Faculty mailboxes are located in EC 405, which is open from Monday through Friday, 8am-5pm.

Emergencies
Students are advised to contact individual course instructors regarding classes that will be missed. Students are advised to contact their course instructors and assigned advisor regarding emergencies that will affect their ability to carry out their responsibilities during the semester.

National Professional Associations

American Counseling Association (ACA)
The American Counseling Association is the world's largest association exclusively representing Professional Counselors in various practice settings. ACA is a not-for-profit, professional educational organization that is dedicated to the growth and enhancement of the counseling profession, and has been instrumental in setting professional and ethical standards for the counseling profession at large.
Branches. ACA has 56 chartered branches in the U.S., Europe and Latin America. The California branch is the California Counseling Association (see also, State Professional Associations).

Divisions. There are 17 divisions and one organizational affiliate within the American Counseling Association. The divisions provide professional strength and satisfy the diverse needs of the counseling community. These divisions enhance professional identity and are organized around specific interest and practice areas:

National Board of Certified Counselors (NBCC)
The National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC), an independent not-for-profit credentialing body for counselors, was incorporated in 1982 to establish and monitor a national certification system, to identify those counselors who have voluntarily sought and obtained certification, and to maintain a register of those counselors. NBCC’s certification program recognizes Professional Counselors who have met predetermined national standards in their training, experience, and performance on the National Counselor Examination (NCE) for Licensure and Certification (see Licensure and Credentialing section). NBCC was initially created after the work of a committee of the American Counseling Association (ACA). The committee created NBCC to be an independent credentialing body. NBCC and ACA have strong historical ties and work together to further the profession of counseling. However, the two organizations are completely separate entities with different goals.

- ACA concentrates on membership association activities such as conferences, professional development, publications, and government relations, and

- NBCC focuses on promoting Professional Counseling to private and government organizations through certification and licensure. The California Board of Behavioral Sciences uses NBCC’s National Clinical Mental Health Counselor Exam (NCMHCE) for LPCC licensure
American Association for Marriage and Family Therapists (AAMFT)
The American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy (AAMFT) is a professional association developed specifically for the field of marriage and family therapy. Members of allied professions and other persons who are interested in marriage and family therapy are eligible to become Affiliate Members. Student membership is $58.00, which includes subscriptions to AAMFT's bimonthly publication, Family Therapy Magazine and the quarterly Journal of Marital and Family Therapy (JMFT).

Department-Affiliated Groups

Chi Sigma Iota
Chi Sigma Iota is the international honor society for counselors-in-training, counselor educators, and professional counselors. Its mission is to promote scholarship, research, professionalism, leadership and excellence in counseling, and to recognize high attainment in the pursuit of academic and clinical excellence in the field of counseling. Contact them at: www.csi-net.org

Kappa Omega
Kappa Omega is the CSUF chapter of CSI. CSI is the national honor society for the American Counseling Association, the only one in the field of counseling in the U.S. Students must earn a GPA of 3.5 or better in order to get invited to join. Each semester, the chapter puts on at least 3 events to help other students.

Graduate Counseling Student Association (GCSA)
GCSA was developed several years ago to create a social and networking environment for the Graduate Students in the Counseling department at California State University, Fullerton. GCSA sponsors workshops, presentations, and social events every semester.

LICENSURE AND CREDENTIALING

California Marriage and Family Therapist License (LMFT)
The California Board of Behavioral Science (BBS) has provided the following information to help outline the requirements for registration as a Marriage and Family Therapist Intern and licensure as a Marriage and Family Therapist (LMFT) in California:

1. In order to qualify for an intern registration, an applicant must possess a qualifying doctoral or master's degree with specific coursework requirements as specified in California Business and Professions (B&P) Code Section 4980.40. Intern registrations are valid for one year and interns may maintain their registration status for a total of six years.

2. The experience requirements for licensure are 3,000 hours of supervised experience gained in not less than two calendar years obtained over a period of not less than 104 weeks. All experience must be gained within the six years immediately preceding the date the application for licensure was filed, except that up to 500 hours of clinical experience gained in the supervised practicum shall be exempt from the six-year requirement.

3. 4980.45 and California Code of Regulations (CCR) Section 1833. The requirements for supervisors are defined in CCR Section 1833.1. After the experience requirements are met, applicants must take and pass a clinical examination.
4. Applicants should not submit MFT licensing applications until they have completed the 3000 hours of supervised experience. Any applications submitted with less than 3000 hours will be returned to the applicant.

5. Once applicants are approved for the examinations, they must participate in an examination at least once a year in order to keep their file active. Once they are in the examination cycle, the law only requires that they stay registered as an intern if they are employed in a private practice. If they are employed in any other setting, they are not required by law to keep their registration current. However, some employers may require individuals to be registered as a condition of employment.

Licensed Professional Clinical Counselors Information

The California Board of Behavioral Sciences (BBS) has the following requirements to register as a Professional Clinical Counseling Intern (PCCI) and licensure as a Licensed Professional Clinical Counselor in California for students who start their programs after August 1, 2012:

1. A 60-semester-unit master’s or doctoral degree from an accredited or approved institution, which is counseling or psychotherapy in content, which includes 6 semester units of supervised practicum or field work study, and contains at least 3 semester units of coursework in 10 of the 13 core content areas.

2. In addition to the 13 core content areas, fifteen semester units of advanced coursework to develop knowledge of specific treatment issues or special populations must be included within the degree.

3. Instruction in the following areas must be part of the degree:
   a. Human sexuality and the study of the physiological, psychological and social cultural variables associated with sexual behavior, gender identity and psychosexual dysfunction
   b. Spousal or partner abuse assessment, intervention strategies and same-gender abuse dynamics
   c. Child abuse assessment and reporting (seven hours required)
   d. Aging and long-term care, including biological, social, cognitive and psychological aspects of aging
   e. Methods of service delivery in recovery-oriented practice environments and integrate an understanding of various cultures and the social and psychological implications of socioeconomic position.

4. Supervision: A minimum of 3,000 post-degree hours of supervised experience, by a LPCC, LMFT, LCSW, licensed psychologist or licensed physician and surgeon, who is certified in psychiatry by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology, over a period of not less than two years, including not less than 1,750 hours of direct counseling with individuals or groups in a clinical mental health counseling setting and 150 hours in a hospital or community mental health setting.

5. Examination: Passing score on the California Law and Ethics Exam, which is taken within the first year after graduation, and a passing score on the National Clinical Mental Health Counselor Examination (NCMHCE), which is taken at the completion of the supervised hours is required.

BBS Website: http://www.bbs.ca.gov/
National Certified Counselor Credential (NCC)
The National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC) developed the first National Professional Counseling credential. In 1983, the NBCC began credentialing Professional Counselors who meet predetermined professional standards in their training, experience, and performance. Currently, more than 31,000 Professional Counselors hold this National Certified Counselor (NCC) credential. These counselors live and work in the US and over 50 countries. The National Counselor Examination (NCE) and/or the National Clinical Mental Health Counselor Exam (NCMHCE) are used by all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and Guam to license counselors on a State level.

Although the NCE is required by most states for licensure, the NCC credential is not required for independent practice and is not a substitute for the legislated state licenses and credentials. However, those who hold the National credential appreciate the opportunity to demonstrate that they have met national standards developed by counselors, not legislators (NBCC, 2003).

DEPARTMENT OF COUNSELING
INFORMED CONSENT

Department Philosophy Regarding Self-Disclosures
We the faculty members in Department of Counseling program believe that you as a student learn best by applying the information learned in classes to your personal lives. As such, we will encourage you to analyze and self-disclose about yourself, your family, and your culture in papers and in class. In addition, your analysis may include exploring and discussing unresolved issues in order for you to become a healthier counselor and individual.

As professors we may suggest getting therapy as you train to be a counselor. We believe strongly that it is important for counselors to experience what they ask of their clients. It is also important to know oneself in a new kind of way in order to manage countertransference and remain healthy during the process of working clinically with others. So, we hope you will all consider, if you have not already, getting into individual or group therapy at some point. In addition, if you find yourself feeling overwhelmed by issues that arise in class, or realize that you simply need more time and attention about something going on for you, please recognize this and honor the profession you are joining. One way for students to get some help is to contact the CSUF Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) at 657-278-3040; they can help you with a referral that meets your needs. Alternatively, if you have insurance coverage you may contact the company directly.

You have a choice about how much information you would like to reveal both in class and in papers. Faculty members do not know what personal information may be missing from your papers. However, we encourage you to be as honest as possible within the bounds of what feels comfortable and safe for you; doing so will enable you to gain the full experience of what you are learning in each class and in the program as a whole.

Dual Relationships
The issue of dual relationships must be included as part of this informed consent. You will be participating with other students in role plays such as a therapist-client role or group leader. You are also fellow students, and many of you will become friends. You will be practicing skills as both client and therapist. When in the role of a client, please remember that these are role plays and are not meant to provide you with therapy. In addition, please know that your struggles will not be held against you or in any way impact your grade in classes.

Confidentiality and Its Limits
We will discuss the legal and ethical codes regarding confidentiality in several classes. It is very important to honor the confidentiality of other students’ disclosures and to trust that they would honor yours. As you will see in many of your classes, this is crucial to establish a culture of safety. Faculty members will also discuss their commitment to holding your information confidential in classes where self-disclosure is encouraged. This means that personal information you reveal in papers and in class will not be shared with other faculty members, unless incidents of sexual harassment, domestic/dating violence, sexual violence, or incidents of abuse involving a minor are disclosed. Faculty members are considered “responsible employee” under CSU Executive Orders, as well as mandated reporters under California State Law. Any disclosures of interpersonal violence, child abuse and neglect or sexual harassment must be reported to the Title IX and Gender Equity Office. Furthermore, know that we will be unable to fully guarantee confidentiality, as we can only ask the other students to maintain your confidences. However, students found breaking confidentiality will be referred to the Student Conduct Administrator for appropriate disciplinary action according to applicable university guidelines. Any conflict that may arise from a breach of confidentiality should be brought to the faculty member’s attention immediately in order to be resolved through appropriate measures. The ability to maintain confidentiality is not only expected out of respect for your fellow students, but is also a representation of your professionalism and trustworthiness as a future counselor since confidentiality is a required ethical/legal component of this profession.

Consent

I, __________________________ have read and understand the above mentioned terms and conditions and agree to maintain confidentiality in all of my classes. I fully understand that breach of confidentiality will result in disciplinary action according to university guidelines. I also understand that my level of self-disclosure is voluntary and information revealed as part of a class will not be utilized in any way in establishing my grade. Finally, I understand that my professors are mandated reporters and may need to break confidentiality under the conditions listed above.
