COUN 530A Syllabus
Beginning Practicum

Course Description
This course focuses on supervised practice in counseling adults, couples, families and children who are clients in community agencies and school settings. Format includes a weekly casework consultation seminar utilizing group supervision, video presentations, role-play, directed teaching, and case presentations. Course topics include, but are not limited to, intake evaluations, phases and stages of counseling, crisis management, triage and referrals, role orientation of the counselor, working with culturally diverse clients, confidentiality, legal and ethical issues, note-keeping, termination, and self-care. May be repeated for credit.

Course Objectives
The course will provide students with:
1) Training in the ongoing procedures of the counseling setting, including intake process, assessment, case management, note-taking, and reporting issues.
2) Supervision for the development of self in the counseling process.
3) Training in the effective use of supervision sessions.
4) Counseling experience with adults, couples, families and children from diverse cultural/ethnic backgrounds.
5) Training in the in the appropriate use of counseling skills and interventions, and in the evaluation of the effectiveness of these skills and interventions.
6) Development of awareness of one’s personal, ethical, ethnic and cultural biases and boundaries in clinical work.
7) Orientation to integrative learning, bridging theory and counseling practice to support professional development, utilizing current counseling research.

Pre-Requisites

Student Learning Outcome Language
As you know, the Counseling department tracks aspects of student learning (known as Student Learning Objectives or SLOs) and Dispositions (Professionalism and Fitness for the Profession) in numerous classes as part of the CACREP accreditation requirements. This helps as a source of feedback on our teaching and lets us know how students are doing on average and individually. In some classes, the SLO’s are assessed in the form of a rubric and in other classes it is simply a score from a paper or exam. There is nothing you need to do, but be aware that the information will be used to track and evaluate your progress in the program and will be part of your student record. Please see detailed information in your Student Handbook, as well as the form for Dispositions (which can be assessed at any time, but is always assessed in COUN 511, 530, and 584). There are at least three times when a student’s individual progress is formally examined by the faculty: (1) after they have completed their first semester; (2) at advancement to practicum (the semester prior to starting practicum); and (3) at advancement to research project (the semester prior to Final Project). At these points in time, all the assessment information (including any of the SLO assessments conducted, as well as information from advisement, course grades, and professor input) will be examined. The spirit of this is to make sure that you are on track, and if you are not, then our goal is to offer support and guidance so that you can get back on track. If there are serious concerns, this may involve a remediation process or, in rare cases, dismissal from the program. All of this information is outlined in your Student Handbook. The SLO assessed in this class is Professional Orientation and Ethical Practice, and the department is using an exam (SLO Quiz, Week 6 Feb. 28th).
